SERVICE WITHIN ACADEMIC ASSOCIATIONS

NATIONAL COMMUNICATION ASSOCIATION
(formerly named Speech Communication Association)

NCA Presidential Initiative: Founded NCA Anti-Bullying Project— The NCA Anti-Bullying Project began with the goals of (a) facilitating Communication-based contributions to addressing the serious societal problem of bullying and (b) encouraging collaborations among Communication scholars from across our discipline. Since 2014, this project has resulted in the establishment of the NCA Anti-Bullying Resource Bank (available to stakeholders within and beyond the academy) and the appointment of the NCA Anti-Bullying Task Force. Since 2015, we have hosted four NCA Anti-Bullying Roundtable Discussions during the NCA annual convention that have resulted in short courses, pre-conferences, research collaborations, and the publication of the award-winning Routledge Handbook of Communication and Bullying. Moreover, this project has led to three successful outreach and partnership efforts—In Las Vegas, we produced PSA with area middle school students and educators. In Dallas, we partnered with Dallas Independent School District and conducted a day-long workshop with nearly 100 educators in attendance, and, in Salt Lake City, we collaborated with Shriners Hospital for Children and offered workshops for hospital administrators on bullying in health care settings. Videos from the event at Shriners Hospital for Children are available on the NCA Youtube channel, and we donated the videos to the hospital for educational purposes at their other locations. Although NCA no longer officially sponsors the initiative, the NCA Anti-Bullying Resource Bank still lives on the NCA website, and individuals involved with the initiative continue to brainstorm possibilities for further work through the Annual NCA Roundtable Discussion each year at the NCA Annual Convention.
